Washington, March 23 The feeling was universal throughout official erricles to day that the culmination of the wis universal throughout official circles to day that the culmination of the Spanish cit-is was near at hand. With the report of the Maine court of inquiry only a little while off, with the White House the center of long and earnest conferences between the President and the party lenders of Coupress and with exceptional activity towards emergency preparations in the War and Navy Departments, there was abundance of evidence that definite results tegarding the Maine disaster and the Cuban question in general were about to be reached Among the President's callers were Senistors Cockell. Taipse and Foralci, Gen. Daniel Sickels, former United States Minister to Madrid, and Win Allen Smith, of Michigan, who has recently returned from a trip to Cuba Turple was, regarded as particularly significant, as they are representance Democrats in the Seinte and their visit followed that of Scinter Gorman yesterding. It was generally understood that in the present emergency the President.

PAMPHLET ON THE SUBJECT ISSUED BY WOMAN'S NATIONAL INDIAN ASSOCIATION.

We are requested by the Bangor Woman's Indian Association to publish some extracts from a pamphlet issued by the Woman's National Indian Association on the Indian problem. Every one who has any interest in the solution of the problem, especially every one who has any influence in amending the laws, will read the facts and suggestions of this little brochure. Here follow a few extracts: Consider this pitiful department of hu-consider this pitiful department of humanity, the Indian Bureau. Every year for more than sixty years there have occur official reports. For the most part faithful, honest reports made to the people of the United States as to the condition and needs of Indias who have no more rights than the wheels on a railroad. They are without even the interest of a personl owner for their well-being. All this living, breathing humanity is yirturally as hempless, as defendess, as much a legal-momentity, as acres of land, or blocks of, stone. Their official head and controller is the secretary of the interior addition in the saw for the regulation of this bureau of humanity are usually made to depend upon his "ophilon" for their application, enforcement or construction. In regard to the Indians he is, more absolute than Sultan more supreme than any satrapty the is poweriest to effect radical improvements. For to carry out beneficial measures, The last report from this calculation, that of 1800, "most heatily" recommends sweeping changes in the system of the bureau hy what is known as "Senate Bill No. 1202." But as the proposed change sit can be no improvement, it is the bureau for this ponierous machine, with a view to remedy its evils, is like putting poison in maother spoon to change it can be no improvement. It is the policy of directing all the infairs of any collection of funcanity, even down to the details of food and clothes by commissioners, agents, the source of the evils.

Honest, carrest and efficient men are and always have been plentiful in the indian Bureau, but they are powerless in the messless of the United States in the messless of the United St

This will open up the southern end of the reservation to public settlement." Now if the citizens of Philadelphia had the legal non-status of Indians, this item might have read "Twelve antermen have sold 150,000 lots in the south end of the city for $\frac{1}{2}$ a lot and this will open the southern part of the city to people who are not Philadelphians." Because these people have no personal rights, but are helpiessly at the disposit of a bureau, there is no redress nor security announced that dwelve of the chief-

Carson and the Baffalo.

Kit Carson while with Fremont's expedition had an experience similar to that of a tiger hunter in India when the tiger hunts the lunter.

While hunting to get "meat" for the expedition Carson chased a buffalo bull. On coming up to the bull's side Carson fired just as his horse stopped into a prairie dog hole. Kit weat 15 feet over the horse's head.

The bull, maddened by the bullet, which had struck low under the shoulder, chased the hunter, who ran toward the river. It was a race for life, a case of nip and tuck as to which should reach the river first. Kit got there and leaped from the bank just as the bull stopped on the brink, shaking its head.

Kit swam round and round. The bull watched. Then a companion crept up, shot the animal, and Kit crawled ce shore, skinned the buffalo, cut off its hand cut out its tengue.—Youth's Companion.

Yet, though there is so general a sentiment that this institution is required, many of its officials recommend that some means may be found and put into operation to abolish the Indian Bureau, and the entire reservation system; for the reservation is the foundation of the Indian Bureau. Were the Indians to become United States effizers the occupation of the Indian Bureau would be gone. It was established, and continues, "for the purpose of making treaties and of fulfilling treaty stipulations." General Morgan, Commissioner of Indian Affairs in 1889, says, "The reservation system belongs to a vanishing state of things, and must soon cease to exist,".

Every educated Indian from the schools, who is 21 years old, should be a sitizen of the United States and free to seek a home where he or she pleases. Commissioner Morgan says of educated Indians (There is no more reason for compelling self-reliant Indian hows and girls to return, against their will, to an Indian reservation, than there is for foreibly sending white boys and girls there. The whole reservation system is an aboundant on, and should case to exist. for themselves wherever they and the best opportunities for earning an houses living."

This would be one step towards the disintegration of the Indian Bureau. The pupil of age who chooses to live off the reservation, and the land holder who can establish his own home, should be paid their share of the money belonging to the title, and the United States should close accounts with such individual Indians. Those venerable "sums held by the United States, the interest of which is to be paid anually to Indians forever," should become school funds for Indians, and the management of these funds should be placed in the hands of the public school systems of the states and territories where the Indians live.

Among the many most excellent and common-sense ideas which have been originated and applied by the Women's National Indian Association, is the home building plan, and if the United States Government would adopt that plan, and give to each home-desiring studen, farmer and workman, not a loan, buy what actually belongs to him, as his share of the sums, "held in trust by the United States," which belong to his type, and let him or her take life in independence, and as a citizen, most of them would their patrimony when they come of age.

WAR RISKS

BEING TAKEN BY THE BANGOR MARINE INSURANCE COM-PANIES.

Owing to the somewhat smoky conditions which hang over the relations of the United States and Spain and the possibility of a conflict, the vessel owners and eargo owners are already begin-ning to feel that they had better be on the safe side and have their vessels and cargoes insured against destruction by the possible enemy. The Bangor Marine insurance companies have taken a number of risks in this line of insur-nice, nd have had numerous applications for the same. An ordinary marine insurance policy does not cover loss in case of war, and a special policy has to

[Special Despatch from Boston.]

An immense audience of men greete that most successful of physicians, Dr-Greene of 34 Temple Place, Boston. Mass., in Music Hall, Boston, and listened with rant and absorbed attention to one of the most powerful lectures ever delivered to men, a lecture filled with profound knowledge of the science of life, replete with grand truths, and teeming with vivid portrayal of those nighty facts, necessarily of a private nature, but nevertheless which constitute the very groundwork of life sknowledge. the underlying principle of the selens of existence itself, and concerning which men are often grossly ignorant, generally thoughtless and always careless, until a crisis arises in their lives, the loss of that vitality which distinguishes the weak from the strong, brings home to each the individual knowledge that only means despair. At Dr. Greene's stirring lecture these facts, who brought out as only this skilled physician, thoroughly conversant with every phase of the subject, can portray the happiness which always accompanies strength and vigor, and also depie the abject misery and despair which follows weakness and debility.

No man has a right to tride with his health: The glory of man is his strength; and strength of character, strength of mind, strength of body, are dependent upon the maintenance; of sould physical health, health of each mind every oteran function and attribute. and every organ, function and attribute of the human system; and true and complete happiness comes only to him who maintains the soundness of his nerve and physical strength, or restores and reains such strength; if by any means it is ost or hapaired.

Ignorance of consequences, indiscretion and thoughtlessness; are the great causes of physical decay, juital weakness and nervous debility ampng men. This condition of nerve weakness, exhausted powers and drain upon the system which slowly but surely, if allowed to continue, sap the very vitality, whech nerve, brain the very vitality, wreck nerve, brain sap the very vitality, where here, brain and body and tinge his and existence itself with the dark gloom of despair, is the most common of discuses among men, not only among the young, but in middle life and mature years, and its cure is the great problem which faces mankind at the present day.

Sufferers from nervous debility and exhausted vitality have a weak, buggid and tired feeling, with gradual faling of strength. Where formerly they had feelings of strong and vigorous physical nerve power, they now have only a sense of weakness; languor, dullness and exhaustion. There is a lack of ambitton, with little inclination for physical or mental exertion. This is often especially noticeable in the morning, when every movement seems an effort. Rag Offerings.

The singular custom of leaving rage Give Us a Trial. Our Line of Neckwear is Complete, and other worthless objects at wells has not entirely fallen into disuse. The superstition in a modified form exists in other portions of the world. A trav-clor in Persin found a tree with rags tied to its branches. They had been left there by the inhabitants of a province infected with ague. A tree hung with rags was found by another traveler in Africa. Crooked pins, old clothes, peb-bles, shells, rosty nails, small coins, and even bundles of heath were considered appropriate thank offerings at shrines in earlier days, for it was believed that the saints and apostles did not care for articles of value.

Such was the superstitions adoration of fountains that it was forbidden by the sixteenth of the canons issued in 900, in the reign of King Edgar, and it was condemned by the canons of St. Anselm. It was also interdicted by laws passed in the reign of King Caunte. Since the reformation the practice has rng as an offering. —Godey's Magazine.
